Host Families Needed for:
The Benjamin Franklin Transatlantic Fellows Summer Institute

BFTF is an unique and exciting program initiated and funded by the U.S. Department of State, and hosted by Wake Forest University.

As part of this program, European and American Students participate in a host family stay right here in Winston Salem!

If you would like to be a host family for these awesome high school aged students from July 12-July 22, 2103, follow the link below to fill out an application. Deadline to apply for this year is May 24, 2013.

This is fun to do especially if you have students that are high school aged or you or your children are interested in learning about other cultures.

Responsibilities include hosting, meals, and entertaining on the weekends, and providing breakfast and dinner during the week. Fellows are at Wake Forest University Monday through Friday during the workday.

This is a fun way to learn something and make a new friend! Hosting students while one of your friend’s hosts students is also a fun way to work together and have more fun.

Host family quote:
“Last year I had the most amazing time hosting a student who showed me pictures of wild pigs that roam her neighborhood in Poland (who knew?). We got to eat amazing Thai food made by our Austrian fellow. I have made new friends for life and can’t wait to visit my fellow next time I am in Europe! We had the most fun at Target and tubing on the Dan River!”

Don’t miss out! Apply today and learn soon who you may be hosting so you can connect on Facebook or Email.
